

APPROACH TO OUR COMMUNITIES

Natural Resource Partners (NRP) has long recognized the importance of being a good corporate citizen, and we engage with community leaders where we work.

We believe our company leaders should also be strong leaders within our communities, and we seek to uphold a positive presence in all areas where we live and work. In both our Houston, Texas and Huntington, West Virginia locations our workforce is encouraged to pursue community engagement opportunities and participate in civic and charitable organizations, including those that promote youth, minority, and community development.
